Busy weekend for Equestrians

It was a busy weekend for horse lovers in the Elk Point area, with both the Elk Point Agricultural Society and the Elk Point Light Horse Club hosting their annual shows.

For the Elk Point Agricultural Society, this was the first event to be held in their new facility, which has been under construction throughout the summer, north of Elk Point's Industrial Subdivision. A good crowd filled the stands and cheered on the many competitors who took part in no less than 26 classes, including both Western and English riding events, plus a series of gymkhana events.

Overall winners from the Ag Society show were Charlene Baker, Tanya Kenyon and Pamela Veer, who received High Point horse blankets donated by Cartier's Western Wear, H & V Tack Shop and Lakeland Saddlery. Full results of the show will be published next week.

Light horse

Elk Point Light Horse Club Show went Sunday afternoon at the Club Grounds, northwest of Elk Point, and included a very interesting demonstration of Combined Driving techniques.

Lorne Anderson from the Lloydminster area drove his horse and buggy through the Training Level Dressage Pattern, which is judged on appearance, adherence to pattern, obedience of the horse and driving skills.

Viewers were told that a second segment of Combined Driving is the Marathon, in which drivers compete on a 5 to 7 kilometre course, with three timed sections. The first section is a pre-determined course which must be gone through in a pre-determined time, with penalties for being early or late completing the course. The second portion is similar in nature, but completed at a walk, while a third portion is taken at a trot and contains from 3 to 5 hazards at the end, with penalties assessed for time faults in the hazards.

Anderson also demonstrated the Obstacle Course, consisting of pylons, each with a tennis ball balanced on top, which is set up to give 6 inches clearance on either side of the buggy, and the competitor must make his way through the course without disturbing balls or pylons, at the fastest speed possible. Two other drivers with buggies, Bob Hibern and Sam Schuman of Bonnyville, tried out the course, followed by Roy Scott with his team and wagons, in another successful attempt.

Another aspect of Combined Driving was a pattern of five barrels, to be gone through in a cloverleaf pattern, which proved quite exacting for the drivers.

The drivers were then given a chance to show off their skills in Driving Showmanship, Wagon Driving and Log Skidding, with Roy Scott receiving the High Point Teamster medallion.

Halter and riding classes were also on the agenda, for both Junior and Senior groups. Jaylene Purdy, with 29 points, took the High Point Junior medallion. Ruth Purdy added up first prizes in a variety of classes to win the High Point Senior medallion with 30 points, with her horse Lord Chancellor winning the award for High Point Horse. Mrs. Purdy and Lord Chancellor were also presented with the Eastman Feeds trophy for High Point Overall Winner.

Chamber starts September 5

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce will get back to work on Wednesday, September 5, with reports on the summer's activities and plans to get underway for upcoming fall events and projects.

One of the matters to be discussed will be the appointment of a Chamber delegate to the newly formed Physician Recruitment Committee. Chamber President Millie Orr feels that Chamber participation in finding permanent additions to the medical staff at Elk Point Municipal Hospital is very important, as Elk Point must be prepared to put its best foot forward to attract physicians.

Also on next Wednesday's agenda will be a report on the summer's operations at the Elk Point Tourist Information Centre.

Mark your calendar now—and get ready to help the Chamber have a busy and productive year.

1990 Golf Club Champions

Chuckwagon finals host

The breathtaking thoroughbred chuckwagon action which thrilled the crowds at the Calgary Stampede and Cheyenne Frontier Days is coming to Saddle Lake this weekend, as the Northern Professional Chuckwagon Association holds their Championship Finals right here in northeast Alberta.

This is the end of a seventeen show circuit which has taken the NPCA wagons to tracks all over northeast Alberta, many areas of Saskatchewan and to two shows in the state of Wyoming, over the past four months. Approximately 37 drivers with close to 60 outfits have taken part in the shows.

NPCA President Ed Croteau said that 28 wagons have signed up so far for the Finals, but that more than 30 outfits will probably take part. Total points from the Finals will be added to the summer's total to determine the top 15 wagons, which will go to the Calgary Stampede and will have the first chance at attending Cheyenne Frontier Days in 1991.

Being part of the Calgary Stampede is more than prestige. In addition to the $50,000 and a new pickup truck which the Calgary champion takes home, there is $250,000 in day money to run for, and sponsors are willing to pay an average of $31,000 to have their company represented on a chuckwagon tarp for the 10 day show. The highest selling tarp this year went for a record $50,000.

Saddle Lake's organizing committee was delighted to be chosen to host the Finals. Brian Cardinal said that this is the first time thoroughbred wagons have run at Saddle Lake in five years. This year was also the first time since the mid 1980s that Saddle Lake has hosted a rodeo. Their Stampede on June 23 and 24 drew a good turnout and featured a variety of activities in addition to the Powwow, Cardinal said, and this encouraged the reserve's Chief and Council to be receptive to planning for further events.

This is the third year Saddle Lake has hosted Back To School Sports

Days, which originated with an old tradition of holding foot races and other competitions in the early fall.

Gold medal for golfer

Congratulations to Pearl Bepalko, winner of the gold medal in the Alberta Senior Games Golf at Hinton. Mrs. Bepalko reports that the course at Hinton was extremely challenging, and she had to "work for the win." Her husband Bill also represented Zone 7 in golf, but suffered an injury and was unable to complete the tournament.

Other area competitors at the Senior Games were Lillian Palinka of Elk Point, who placed 5th in Table Tennis, and Lyle Womacks of Heinsburg, who placed 7th in Horseshoes.

Summer Play Programs successful

Friday was the last day for the Summer Play Programs. August, like July, was a very busy month. The Fun In The Sun group followed a "Yesteryear" theme at the beginning of August. Keeping with the theme, the children enjoyed singing for the Heritage Lodge residents, making butter, going on an old-fashioned picnic, constructing popsicle stick buildings so they might look like log buildings, floor curling at the Pioneer Circle, and looking at the mural and then trying to make their own.

"Yesteryear" was not the only exciting time for the children. The Club 3/4 children participated in a Penny Carnival, and both groups were able to attend the circus in Vermilion last week, and display all of the crafts made during the summer for their parents.

On the final day of the Fun In The Sun program, we visited the extended care patients at the hospital. The children had fun singing and playing games with everyone there. A thank you is extended to Angie Pacholek, Carolyn Onusko, and all the extended care patients for giving us such a warm welcome.

Finally, we would like to extend our thanks to all those people who helped us throughout the program. The programs are much better when there is parental and community support and involvement. Thank you for helping to make the 1990 summer play programs a success.

Summer reading program winds up

By Tina Bjorkman and Lisa Lukevich

The Summer Reading Program has once again drawn to a close. We have really grown attached to the kids over the past two months and will miss working with them each week. However, we encourage everyone to continue coming to the library and look forward to seeing you in the upcoming fall and winter months.

The preschool and elementary final parties, on August 21 and 24 respectively, were a smashing success. On Tuesday, the elementary children divided into four groups and competed in the SRP 1990 Olympics. The competition was fierce in the dress-up relay, stone-on-a-spoon race, treasure hunt, obstacle course, and balloon toss. However, the Dudes emerged the winners. The kids wound up their morning with a snack of rice krispie squares, cheese and peanut butter and crackers, watermelon and juice, and by trying their luck at breaking the fish pinata.

Friday morning brought 29 preschoolers to the library. Stories, songs and a puppet show were all well received. The game, 'Pass The Present,' also proved to be a tremendous success. Next on the agenda was decorating gingerbread men, which became part of the snack. A fish pinata concluded the program. Everyone had a terrific time.

Our coloring contest winners and prizes were as follows: Elementary: 1st--Jennifer Flanders, a book; 2nd--Matthew Kutryk, a book; 3rd--Aleisha Birkett, a goodie bag. Preschool: 1st--Kirsty Lindquist, a book bag; 2nd--Derek Birkett, a book; 3rd--Heather Krissa, a goodie bag.

Congratulations! Everyone who participated did a terrific job. We would like to thank Billie Milholland who kindly judged our posters again this year.

This year we asked the kids to keep track of how many books they read in their Diver's Log Books. Judy Kim read the most books, and won her choice of a book.

Thirty five elementary children and 48 preschoolers were registered in the summer reading program this year. The Library averaged 16 elementary kids and 20 preschoolers each week.

Forty enthusiastic readers made their way around the Monoporead board this summer. This game not only provides a fun reading experience, but it also encourages the kids to read a variety of books and maintain their reading skills throughout the summer.

The library continued with the tradition of a Thursday matinee again this summer. We featured everything from classics to cartoons. For anyone who missed the movies or would like to see them again, they are available at the library.

We would like to take time to thank the many people who made this year's Summer Reading Program so successful. Thanks to all the kids who made our summer so enjoyable. You really proved to be great book divers. We would also like to thank the parents for their support. We appreciate it! A final thank you goes out to the Library Board and staff for all their help and encouragement. The roses were lovely. Thank you.

Program Leaders Thanked

Library Board Chairperson Louise Krissa presents Summer Reading Program leaders Tina Bjorkman and Lisa Lukevich with roses in recognition of their good work.

In Our View

Back to school with care

Suddenly, the summer is in its last few days, and it's time to head back to school for another year.

Tuesday will see fleets of yellow school buses back on the roads, and young town residents setting out on foot for the first day at school. This means that we all need to exercise extra care, whether we are driving in town or out.

The excitement of being back with their friends after the summer, and the apprehension of the first day of school, may take away some of the concern with traffic safety which we have instilled in our children, and they may not be as cautious as usual. Therefore, it is up to the motorists to exercise extra care and watch out for children crossing where they shouldn't, crossing without looking, and popping out from between cars, in school zones or out.

On the country roads and highways, we must again accus-

tom ourselves to watching for school buses with their flashing lights. Please help these iron-nerved drivers to get back into the swing of their very difficult and demanding job by following the rules of the road and NEVER passing a school bus with its lights flashing, whether you are approaching the bus from front or behind.

For the older students who drive to school, we also ask that they drive carefully and remember to watch out for the younger students.

All Elk Point motorists are reminded that 51 Street between the schools is closed daily at afternoon dismissal time to permit safe loading of school buses. Please avoid that area at that time, as detours are in effect.

Have a good year back at school, everyone!

P. S. Congratulations, Moms, you made it through another summer! Enjoy the quiet!

Golden Glory

It's heading toward autumn when the sunflowers turn up to the sun. These are winter food for our birds, but the gardener will be lucky to save some; many are picked bare well before freeze-up.

Alberta Trails

Summer winding down

By Irene Magnusson

With the first really cool days of autumn, the lowering clouds and hug-yourself winds, our thoughts go to covering tomatoes, picking the best flowers, and otherwise starting our defense mechanisms toward fending off that threat of coming winter. As come it will.

But before the gloom of winter, we are blessed with autumn, the time of slow-down, cool-down, pick it, harvest it, gather-it-in time, and the slow folding away of the flush of summer.

I'm not trying to rush it, or look for frost on the pumpkin before its time--but when the woods and roadsides are dressed in blankets of blue asters, when the recently flaming pink fireweeds are only laden with long pink seed pods, when the fields flaunt waves of undulating gold and a thousand fliers depict ten thousand back-to-school bargains, spilling from the mailbox like cornflakes...oh, we know autumn is in the air!

From my viewpoint, it's been a good summer, not too hot, nor yet too cool, enough rain (eventually!) and no smashing hailstones. These could yet come, I suppose, and for you who have suffered the ice pellets' damage and outrage, my sympathy. I will say very little about the invasion of the creepy-crawlies; with some things, the less said, the better, especially if we want to keep our blood pressure under control. I have had my space invaded by numerous pocket gophers, those little undercover tunnel diggers, that leave the mounds of soil pushed up on the lawn, or between the garden rows. So far I have eliminated five or six, and collected three pails of well-mixed clean black soil, to fill my winter flowerpots.

There yet lives in my garden a little monster which has dined on my best peas, and clipped off many he hasn't bothered to eat. His most evil crime has been to cut off the stems, an inch or two above the ground, of my entire row of edible pod climbing peas, taking the last one this very week, as it was delivering its crunchy and delicious little crop. I thought I had outwitted the criminal critter, by wrapping the stem in a cardboard tube, but the rain dissolved the glue and it uncurled, allowing his busy fangs to chew off one more stem. One could possibly forgive him, if he ate what he harvested, but, alas, he merely chomps stems, like a cutworm. My suspicions are that this is a vole, about twice the size of a large mouse, and a very cagey fellow he is, evading any traps I have set out. I can see him taking over the farm when I am gone to my just deserts.

The raspberries have been lush and almost unending in their output, much as I predicted, a harsh taskmaster, but a taste I love. Even the gooseberry bush yielded well, while saskatoons were found in a few secluded spots. I've heard no raves about the blueberries, and found none myself, but I did see some locally picked blueberries for sale in the store, not a likely sight unless they were abundant somewhere. Even those delicious morsels, famous for their sparkling jell, the pin cherries, were to be found in abundance here and there.

When I think of the miles I've trod behind the lawn mower, through the summer, the piles of weeds removed from the rows, and the towering stands where I cannot cut, I cannot say that Mother Nature has been chary with her summer gifts. If the crops yield as well as the stinging nettles, or goldenrods, thistles or quackgrass, the bins should be well filled, indeed.

We know its coming autumn when: all the summer wildflowers are gone, only the toughies--goldenrod, asters, and September roses--remain; when the garden flowers are at their very brightest; when flocks of wild geese slice the air above, as they head off southward; when the great crop of local fairs has bloomed and been recorded; when we go to bed in the dark and rise in the dark on a regular weekday. If we have kids, we know its fall when they start looking at schoolbags, and shoes and shirts and jeans and...all the many items so necessary when school looms on the horizon. For some kids, it's the end of summer jobs, or leaving home for the first time, looking for flats in the city, deciding which classes to sign up for. For some, it can be the end to summer romances, for others a wedding, and all their dreams come true.

For those so inclined, fall means endless hours of football, in person or in TV-land; for some, sharpening the skates, or giving a passing thought to skis. For the many groups, clubs, organizations--it's thoughts of the first fall meeting, of getting the gang together, of the laying of plans. For still others, there will be thoughts of autumn vacations, travels to spots too busy to enjoy in sunny midsummer.

Some avid gardeners will be facing wall-to-wall tomatoes, countless crocks of cukes settling into their brine, bins of potatoes, mounds of cabbages--and where, oh where to put all those bulky zucchini, pumpkin and squash? By now, many jars are filled with the offerings of veggies and fruit, and the blanching pot never cools, as the freezer fills. At least, I hope so. So much of our living can be home-grown, even on the smallest bit of soil, if we make the effort.

I hope this is not the fall when the world goes to war, yet again, in the needless slaughter of humankind, to prove there is always someone with enough greed-for power, land, whatever--to kill other humans to get it.

Saddle slicker competes

Tanya Kenyon of the Elk Point Saddle Slickers participated in the Regional 4-H Light Horse Show on August 12 at Vermilion, along with members of eight other clubs in the area.

Miss Kenyon had a very successful day at the show, winning first in the Trail class, second in both Western Equitation and Western Pleasure, and fourth in English Equitation and English Pleasure.

Crop report

Swathing is getting underway in the Elk Point area, and some canola has been combined. Swathing will be general by the end of the week if weather cooperates, with combining expected to be general about one week later.

Some light frost was reported last week in the area.

Cookie Crafters

Preschoolers at the Elk Point Library Summer Reading Program Wind Up enjoyed decorating cookies as part of their celebration last Friday.

Lakeland Pony Chuckwagons and Chariots were part of last year's celebrations, and the good reception they received led the planning committee to think of further ways to expand the program.

Saddle Lake had originally looked into having the NPCA wagons at the same time as their rodeo, but shows in Dewberry and Wainwright left too few wagons available to assure a successful meet. When the planning committee learned that the NPCA was seeking bids for their Championship Finals, they quickly decided to enter. An excellent race track and substantial prize money helped to make theirs the successful bid.

Saddle Lake is offering the NPCA an additional $1500 on top of the day money. Of this, $1000 will go to the winner of the weekend's show, and $500 to the outfit with the fastest track time of the meet. Cardinal said that an equal amount will go to the Pony Chuckwagon and Chariot Association, with $1000 split between the top 8 pony chuckwagons and $500 between the top 4 chariots, in addition to day money.

The races are scheduled for 4:00 p.m. Friday, and 3:00 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, with the pony wagons and chariots followed by the thoroughbred wagons. Flat races are also scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, going at 1:00 p.m. both days, as are foot races for all ages, which go at noon on Saturday and Sunday. A 12 team modified slowpitch tournament will also be part of the weekend.

Among the NPCA wagons who will be competing this weekend are those who ended the season in the top 15 places. These are season leader Ray Mitsuing, who won Cheyenne Frontier Days and Craven, Brian Laboucane, winner of shows at Pierceland, Dewberry and St. Walburg, Edgar Baptiste, winner of the Saskatoon show, Herman Flad, winner at Coronation, Wayne Hanson, winner at Loon Lake, Meadow Lake, Battleford and Beardy Band, Ray Croteau, winner at Cold Lake First Nations and

Anyone wishing to sponsor a wagon is invited to phone Brian Cardinal at 726-3829.

What's news at the library?

Now that the Summer Reading Program is over, it is time to bid farewell to Lisa Lukevich. Lisa assisted Tina Bjorkman, our summer program coordinator. The girls did a wonderful job and as Lisa enters university this fall, we wish her all success. Tina will be with us full time until the end of August and we hope to have her still in the library part time after school starts. Thank you very much, girls, for your enthusiasm and work, it made for a very successful Summer Reading Program. Starting August 31, preschool story time will be back at its regular hour of 10:30 a.m.

NEW BOOKS:

Helen Forrester is the bestselling author of six previous novels, including the successful Yes, Mama, and four volumes of autobiography. In The Lemon Tree, a stirring and heartwarming tale of loneliness and survival, she has created a memorable heroine in an unforgettable story that will delight her millions of readers.

Web Of Dreams by V. C. Andrews--Another book in the spellbinding Casteel series, the unforgettable story of children abandoned, clinging to their dreams, searching for love and home.

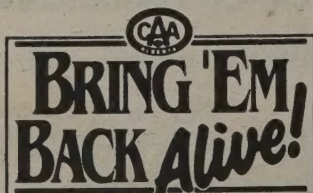

A Coat Of Many Colors: Two Centuries Of Jewish Life In Canada--In this beautifully illustrated history of the Jews in Canada, Irving Abella presents a story never before fully told. This book was donated by the generous assistance of Seagram, which is the national sponsor of this book.

The delightful children's board book In The Wild for 1 to 3 year olds has colorful pictures of baby animals.

From the streets of London to the suites of New York, from the rise of Nazi Germany and the horrors of Kristallnacht to the fall of the Berlin Wall, The Woman In His Life by Barbara Taylor Bradford takes us on an unforgettable journey.

Four more Community Services books in the library are: The Survivor's Guide by Sheila Simpson--this book gives a guideline to coping with the details of death. Kids Who Succeed by Dr. Beverly Neuer Feldman--the no-nonsense guide to raising a child who'll be a winner in tomorrow's world. Pregnancy Over 35 by Kathryn Schrotenboer-Cox, and The Pill Book Guide To Children's Medications by Michael D. Mitchell, M.D.
